Newbury and District Organists' Association, (NDOA), founded in 1980, aims to encourage interest in organ music amongst players and all enthusiasts. A recital is given by visiting organists, from the local area and further afield, at St Nicolas Church, Newbury, on the second Thursday of each month, except May. ROY WOODHAMS

ROY WOODHAMS was born and brought up in East Kent where he spent his early working life. He was educated at the Dane Court Grammar School in Broadstairs, the Royal College of Music (RCM) and the University of London Institute of Education. He first studied organ and piano with the late Harold Millsted, then at the RCM he studied organ with the late John Birch, piano with the late John Russell and theory of music with the late Robert Ashfield. Alongside a career in teaching, he was Director of Music at St. John's Parish Church in Margate, and was at that time well known throughout south-east England as a recitalist, accompanist and choral conductor.

In 1993, after a period of study at Ripon College, Cuddesdon, Roy was ordained in the Church of England. He has held clergy posts in Kent, Oxfordshire and Hampshire, and is currently Rector of Cranleigh, in Surrey. He is also an Honorary Canon of Guildford Cathedral and a member of the Cathedral Council, Area Dean of Cranleigh, Diocesan Organ Adviser for the Diocese of Oxford and a consultant to the Royal School of Church Music. As time permits, he tries to continue his musical career as recitalist, accompanist and conductor.

Roy is married to Kate, a primary school teacher, and they have two daughters, Beth who is a research scientist working for Leeds University, doing post-doctoral research into severe weather in East Africa and Martha, who, having recently graduated as a choral scholar from Kings College London, is working as Client Liaison Manager for a musical instrument auction company in London, alongside building a career as a professional singer. Roy's other hobbies include cooking, walking, railways (though he claims not to own an anorak) and travel.
